

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The baking tin comprises a hollow part (1a) made of a flexible material having a side wall (3) whose upper end defines an opening (5), and a rigid reinforcement (7). Another annular or disk-shaped reinforcement (11') is linked to the bottom (2), close to the join with the side wall (3).